Valentine Fisher Has Known Robison For Three Years, but Never Saw Anything Peculiar About Him—The Testimony of Doctors Ogden and Norris a Disappointment to the Prosecution—Doctor Anderson In His Examination Found No Trace of Epilepsy In Robison—Mrs. Gobart Testified That the Accused Acted Strangely the Morning Before the Tragedy Occurred.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—Valentine S. Fisher, superintendent of anti-cruelty societies of Pittsburg, spoke positively when he said: "I have known Robison well for three years, and have conversed with him eight or ten times in that time. The last time at his house I talked with him for an hour. I did not notice anything peculiar about him. I considered him perfectly sane at that time."

"How long before then had you seen him?" asked Judge Young.

"Not long."

Doctor Parke was recalled, and said that lead poison would affect Robison as to co-ordination, gait etc.

Dr. J. A. Lindsay, of Salineville, said he had lived there since the war, having been practicing since 1848.

"In my general practice I have had several cases of epilepsy and paresis, some of the latter having gone to the asylum. Paresis in the sense you use it is a rare disease, while epilepsy is comparatively frequent. People suffering from epilepsy are not necessarily insane. I examined the prisoner last Monday, here in the court room. Later I saw him in jail. I followed the tests, and the evidence showed nervousness. So far as the examination shows he is a sane man. He brought his fingers together well. He was weak, physically. I would not be able to say he never had epilepsy."

Judge Young then took the doctor in hand, and there was a long list of questions on medical authorities. The doctor did not answer finally, and he failed to recollect so many things that it was necessary to ask him numberless questions. Paresis, he said, was not curable. The examination continued for a long time, but brought out nothing new. Chuck Stewart was called, and the question of the letter was raised.

"Did you destroy it?" asked Judge Smith.

"I don't know. I was drinking."

"When did you search for it?"

"A few days after I got it."

"Did you search in the clothing you had on?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where was it written from?"

"The Hotel Grand, I believe."

Judge Young objected because Stewart had not searched for the letter, and was not competent to give its contents.

"I don't think I was altogether intoxicated," he said to Judge Young. "I put the letter in my inside coat pocket, and I have not seen it since. I got the letter on Wednesday."

Judge Young reviewed the objection, and noted an exception.

"The letter was dated Hotel Grand, on envelope and writing paper, at East Liverpool, O. Then came 'Friend Charlie.' She told me to look after the place and tend to the chickens; get up in the morning, and get Robison and his son Tom off to work. She said she had second place in the race, and she would have first before she came home on Sunday; that Mrs. Weigand had first at that time. That's the only letter I received."

"While she was in Liverpool, did you receive the letter of which this is a copy?"

"I object," said Mr. Young.

"Your honor, we purpose to show premeditation and malice, in the fact that the defendant prepared this letter before proceeding to the scene of the crime," said Mr. Speaker.

"I think it is useless to read this letter again," said Judge Smith. "Hand it to him, Mr. Speaker, and let the witness read it."

"I never got no letter like that," said the witness, after being shown the copy.

"Did you say to Frankie Fleming that you received a copy like that, for her, and if she'd kept her mouth shut, she'd never have gotten into trouble?" asked Judge Young.

"No, sir; I didn't."

Judge Young desired a copy of the letter as Stewart remembered it, and the jury were given a recess of five minutes while it was prepared. Doctor Parke was then recalled for a few minutes to say that particles of mineral in the gray matter about the spine would impair the speech.

Chuck Stewart looked half ashamed of himself as he took the stand, and looked over the crowd.

"I live in Pittsburg and have never been married. I knew Mr. Robison, but not his wife, before I went to live with them. I am a slate roofer, and have worked off and on for several years. I am not an industrious, hard working man. I was convicted of burglary in 1891, but I don't know when I first went to the workhouse. I have been there eight or nine times. I got a year in the works for burglary. I was sent to the works by the magistrate eight times for assault and battery and disorderly conduct within a year. I was in the works

Oct. 9. It was for disorderly conduct, I think."

"When did you get that letter?" was the question, after a spirited discussion.

"I don't know when I got that letter, nor how long I had been drinking. I opened the letter and read it, but did not pay much attention to it. The letter was the first letter I ever had from her. I wrote to her and her husband once. I wrote to her once in Cleveland, but she sent me one letter by Frankie Fleming. She started 'Friend Charlie.' I don't know what the next sentence was, but it said to take care of the chickens and the dog."

"No sir, I had no trouble with Blank. I couldn't make all of the letter out. She said to address her at Hotel Grand, and told me to write and let her know how things were getting on at the house. She said nothing about a job, nor did she tell me not to drink. I know when to quit."

"She didn't say about being true as gold. There were a few words I could not read."

"Be honest, Stewart. Now isn't this a copy of your letter?" said Judge Young.

"No sir."

"Be careful."

"I'm telling the truth on the witness stand."

"Did you not go to Frankie Fleming's place with Mrs. Robison?"

Before Mr. Speaker could object, Stewart had answered in the negative, and was allowed to go. He said he often went for whisky, but only once with Mrs. Robison. He left the court room at once.

A RECESS TAKEN

Until Drs. Ogden and Norris Could Arrive From Liverpool.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—Late in the afternoon the prosecution rested for a time until Doctor Norris and Doctor Ogden could arrive from Liverpool. Robison sat in his accustomed place, his hat carefully tucked away under the chair and his head leaning on his hand. His father and son, David, were not far away, near the railing, while Chuck Stewart and Miss Jones, sister of the dead woman, were earnestly engaged in conversation at the other side of the room.

"I have had a few cases of epilepsy," said Doctor Norris. "I first saw Robison the day I came here to attend the grand jury. I was in the room the night Mrs. Robison was killed, but he by that time had been removed. I never had any conversation with him."

"I have never had any experience in the treatment of epilepsy," said Doctor Ogden. "I was in the room with Robison immediately after the shooting, but only for a short time."

"What would you say as to his mental condition, was he sane or insane?" asked Mr. Speaker.

"I object," came from Judge Young, but it had no effect, and the doctor continued:

"I only glanced at him as I entered the room. I could not by looking at him now form an opinion."

The testimony given by Doctor Norris and Doctor Ogden was plainly a disappointment to the prosecution, as they are the only living medical men who were in the room soon after the tragedy. They were expected to throw some technical light on Robison's appearance and actions the night of the crime.

Dr. James Anderson, of Salem, took the stand. "A party suffering from epilepsy can be sane, but I don't know in what proportion. The tendency of the disease is to impair the mind, but I cannot give you the exact time required. While under these attacks the patient is invariably unconscious. The proportion of recoveries is very small. If a party had attacks of this kind when five years old and not again until he was 40, he might be cured. Paresis is paralysis of the brain tissue, and is first shown in a marked feeling of exultation. The pupil of the eye contracts in some stages, and the patient has an unsteady gait. In Robison's case the pupil of the eye was as normal as could be."

"Did you observe any symptom of epilepsy?"

"I did not."

"Could you tell whether he was suffering from epilepsy?"

"I could not."

"Did you see anything to indicate that insanity had existed in his family?"

"No sir," very emphatically.

On cross examination he said he had treated epileptics. "I mean I have treated true epilepsy."

"Until within the last 20 years didn't all writers say that there was no epilepsy without total unconsciousness?"

"I don't know."

"I would ask you what epilepsy is?"

"It is a disease produced by the nerve."

"What produces it?"

"Pressure on the gray matter of the brain."

"Will it produce insanity?"

"It will. I don't know what books say about epilepsy returning for a time, but I think it may. The descendants of an epileptic do not necessarily have epilepsy. It might have a tendency to bring it on."

"What is mask epilepsy?"

"I don't know."

"Is there such a thing?"

"I don't know."

"What is nocturnal epilepsy?"

"It occurs during the night season."

The patients are likely to be nervous. A doctor can tell an epileptic when attacks are close or severe.

I examined Robison for about half an hour and found no trace of epilepsy. Epilepsy is a prolific cause of insanity. Insanity is a mental delusion. I have had three cases of paresis within the last two years. One person was committed to Newburg. General paresis is paralysis of the gray matter of the brain. Paresis is not considered a curable disease. Delusion sometimes appears."

Mrs. Northrop was called, and the testimony that the prosecution desired to produce met with characteristic objection from Judge Young. The objection was sustained, and court adjourned until 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

IN COURT THIS MORNING.

The First Witness Was Called by the Defense.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—There was an unusual stir about the court house this morning. Something was wrong, and no man, beyond a few inside the circle of information, could tell just what was the cause. The attorneys held a long conference, and reached a conclusion about 9 o'clock. The court opened as usual.

As a witness had arrived from Pittsburg, the defense opened their case again. Mrs. Gobart was the first witness. She is a sharp-faced, shrewd-looking woman, but talks with an accent so pleasant that one forgets her appearance.

"I live in Pittsburg," she said. "I saw Robison at Mrs. Scally's the day he went to Liverpool. Mrs. Scally called me down and asked me to stay; that she was afraid of Robison. He acted so queer. He ran in and out of the room, and acted as though he was crazy. He pressed his hand to his head. He was not there long."

The cross-examination by Mr. Potts was severe. She denied that Robison came back with a pint of whisky. "He said that he would be back tomorrow; that he was going to East Liverpool to get his wife, and he asked Mrs. Scally to go with him, and that they would surprise her. He was not drunk. I have known Robison three years, but he don't know me."

Chuck Stewart came next. He was called by Mr. Speaker. He had removed his mustache during the night and presented a much better appearance than when he was brought from the jail yesterday.

"How much of the week before the shooting were you at Robison's house?" asked Speaker.

"Most of the time."

"How much of the time was Robison there?"

"Every night and morning."

"Were you still drinking?" interposed Judge Young.

"I was."

"Then you couldn't see much of him."

"No. I got up first in the morning and lighted the fire and Robison got breakfast."

"Isn't it true that you were in bed every morning while Robison and his son did the work?"

"No sir."

"That is all the case, your honor," quietly said Mr. Speaker, with the exception of Doctor Eyeman, of Cleveland, and he cannot be here until later."

"In that event," said Judge Smith, "we will adjourn here until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when this witness can be here. Now, I charge you gentlemen of the jury, when you leave this room to forget about this case. Do not listen to the expressions of your friends and acquaintances. This is not an idle caution by the court. Be careful; do not consider it or allow anyone to talk to you."

Court then adjourned and the prisoner was returned to the old jail on the hill. He manifested no interest whatever in the adjournment, and walked quietly out when Deputy Bick handed him his hat.

HOW IT WILL END.

The Program For Next Week Will Be Interesting.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—The trial will be started before noon Monday, and as there is no testimony but that of Expert Eyman, it will not require a great length of time to wind up the case. He will be here Sunday night, and there is now no fear of delay. Three to four hours will be consumed by his testimony, and the case will be ready for the arguments. Mr. Potts will open for the prosecution, and will talk probably two hours. He will be followed by H. E. Grosshaus, and he by Judge Young, on behalf of the prisoner. It is believed that they will see no intermediate course. If it is not murder, as charged, then the prisoner must be acquitted. Prosecutor Speaker will close the argument. It is believed the jury will be charged Tuesday, and some people expect a verdict that evening. Many are the learned arguments heard about the court house as to what will be the probable verdict, but one level-headed gentleman seemed to know the situation when he said:

"If the faces of the men express their thoughts, I cannot understand why anyone can honestly say they believe they know what the verdict will be. Watch a few of those jurors as I have watched them, and you will see that they are interested, and interested men do not decide until the source of information is exhausted. I believe the verdict will be a surprise."

The witnesses who came here from Pittsburg are delighted with Lisbon. They think it a quiet little country town, but withal a very nice place. One of them asked the newspaper man to see that the court officials, Sheriff Gill, Deputy Supplee, Clerk King and all others interested in the trial, got their just and honest due. They think the officials have treated them splendidly, and deserve every consideration in return. Some of them will return next Monday, but when the majority leave Lisbon today they leave forever.

ALL ARE CONFIDENT.

Attorneys Say the Hard Part of the Work Is Done.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—The attorneys greeted the recess this morning with what could not be mistaken for sighs of all sizes, but invariably of relief. They have little to say of the probable outcome, but there is no doubt that each one is confident of winning out. They have worked hard. Prosecutor Speaker and W. S. Potts have fought with might and main, and Judge Young and H. E. Grosshaus have met them constantly. There has been no serious mistakes, and the opinion is expressed that the case has been well conducted from the start. The number of witnesses examined and the amount of testimony brought out has been very much in the nature of a surprise.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—The effort to show that Zach Robison sprang from a race mentally unsound brought out from old Mr. Robison today some interesting family history. His parents came from Ireland and Zach's mother came from a family of Pennsylvania Dutch. They had lived for many years he said, without a stain upon the family name, and he deeply feels the disgrace brought on by the action of his son. He refused to say whether Zach had shown signs of being mentally unbalanced in his youth.

OUR BUTTER IN ENGLAND.

Agricultural Department's Experiment Not Very Successful.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The results of the first shipment of butter ever made by this government to foreign markets, this time to England, have been communicated to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson in an official report from the experts who managed the experimental exportation. The report says it is evident that unless the retailers can be reached without much extra expense in transportation, so that better relative prices can be realized, eastern creameries cannot yet afford to consider the question of exporting their products. Two lots of butter were sent, made at Ames, Ia., and Cornish, N. H.

The English merchants are wedded to their hundred weight (112 pounds), as a unit of measure and to the half hundred weight for a package of butter. Packages exported at half hundred weights should contain as nearly 56 pounds as possible, or what will weigh that at the English market. The rate of the shrinkage remains to be determined. Opinions of English judges indicate that one-quarter ounce of salt to the pound of butter will be enough to use for this market.

Cubical boxes were much preferred by the wholesalers, who paid a considerable difference for it in that shape. Small packages were not in favor with them, and, although scoring highest as to quality, the 30-pound tubs sold as "quarters" of 28 pounds brought only 17½ cents per pound and 5-pound boxes and prints less than 16 cents.

The wholesalers paid 18 1-5 for the Iowa butter in cubical boxes and for the identical boxes in Welsh, or 60-pound creamery tubs, they paid only 17½ cents, besides the gain of at least four pounds per tub in taking these tubs at 56 pounds net weight. One merchant, who as an adoption, took two tubs at actual net weights, paid only 16½ cents, paying 18 and 18 1-5 cents at the same time for two cubical boxes of the same butter.

FAILED TO ROB THE TRAIN.

Three Bandits Betrayed to a Sheriff by a Fourth In Illinois.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—An attempt has been made to hold up a Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern passenger train near Salem, Ills., 65 miles east of here. The attempt failed through the weakening of one of the robbers, whose name is unknown, who informed the sheriff of the gang's plans.

With a posse the sheriff went to the scene of the holdup before train time. He found the track piled high with timbers. At the appearance of the posse the gang scattered and were fired upon by the sheriff and his officers. One of the robbers was shot and captured and is now dying in jail at Salem, where he was taken.

There were four men involved in the attempt. The wouldbe robbers are residents of Salem and were known about the village as hard characters. Abe Tweed, the robber who was shot, was out on parole from Chester, Ills. Thos. Schumacker, the other man captured, is an ex-convict from the Indiana penitentiary on his own confession. One man escaped. The other was the informer, who was not present. The train was flagged just in time.

MUST APPEAL TO CONGRESS.

President McKinley Refuses to Allow a French Cable to Land.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The president has refused permission to the Campagne Francaise Cables Telegraphique to land the new cable of that company at Cape Cod, or indeed, anywhere upon the United States coast.

The question that was raised through the French ambassador as to the power of the federal government to deny admission to the cable will be referred to the attorney general for an opinion, but meantime the executive branch of the government holds to the doctrine that such landing can be only by express authorization of congress.

Weyler Denounced In the House.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The house was in session an hour and a half, most of the time being taken up with roll calls. Mr. Sulzer (Dem., N. Y.) succeeded in injecting into the proceedings a brief speech in favor of Cuba, in which he denounced Weyler as a "thief" and "murderer." The house adjourned till Monday.

Foster Confirms His Success.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—A cablegram received at the state department from ex-Secretary Foster, who has been at St. Petersburg engaged in negotiations with the Russian government for the better protection, by mutual agreement, of the seal life in the North Pacific and Bering sea, announces the complete success of his mission.

Enterprising Citizens Are Hustling to

LAND THE NEW POTTERY

A Conference Has Been Held, and the Manufacturer Is Perfectly Willing to Go Ahead With the Project—The Erection of the Plant May be Commenced Soon.

The NEWS REVIEW stated some two weeks ago that a deal was on whereby Wellsville was to obtain a new and extensive white ware pottery, the largest in the country, provided the proper bonus and donation of land was forthcoming. It is now assuming definite shape, and the coterie of enterprising business men, having only the best interests of this hustling little city at heart, deserve the warmest praise for their interesting and approaching successful efforts to further the industries and growth of the city.

Seven acres of land have now been purchased near the pump house, with one or two acres' frontage near the C. & P. railway. The potteryman who proposed to build the plant was lately in conference with the 20 citizens who are working up the scheme, and since the bright prospect that the 60 per cent tariff will be restored, he is now perfectly willing to go ahead with the project, and no doubt Wellsville will soon see the beginning of the location of one of the finest white ware potteries in the country.

The News of Wellsville.

A funny incident happened yesterday. Ten Italians arrived in town from New Cumberland. They had walked from that place, where the fare is $1.50, to Pittsburg, with the expectation of getting a cheap rate here. When they found the fare $1.45, they were a disgusted lot, and continued their walk up the river.

Peter Drear, formerly of Empire, was in the city yesterday afternoon.

A man from Salineville, under the influence of liquor, laid down in Hogan's alley last night to slumber. He woke up this morning minus a new pair of shoes and $1.50 in coin.

A Conference Has Been Held, and the Manufacturer Is Perfectly Willing to Go Ahead With the Project—The Erection of the Plant May be Commenced Soon.

The NEWS REVIEW stated some two weeks ago that a deal was on whereby Wellsville was to obtain a new and extensive white ware pottery, the largest in the country, provided the proper bonus and donation of land was forthcoming. It is now assuming definite shape, and the coterie of enterprising business men, having only the best interests of this hustling little city at heart, deserve the warmest praise for their interesting and approaching successful efforts to further the industries and growth of the city.

Seven acres of land have now been purchased near the pump house, with one or two acres' frontage near the C. & P. railway. The potterymen who proposed to build the plant was lately in conference with the 20 citizens who are working up the scheme, and since the bright prospect that the 60 per cent tariff will be restored, he is now perfectly willing to go ahead with the project, and no doubt Wellsville will soon see the beginning of the location of one of the finest white ware potteries in the country.

The News of Wellsville.

A funny incident happened yesterday. Ten Italians arrived in town from New Cumberland. They had walked from that place, where the fare is $1.50, to Pittsburg, with the expectation of getting a cheap rate here. When they found the fare $1.45, they were a disgusted lot, and continued their walk up the river.

Peter Drear, formerly of Empire, was in the city yesterday afternoon.

A man from Salineville, under the influence of liquor, laid down in Hogan's alley last night to slumber. He woke up this morning minus a new pair of shoes and $1.50 in coin.

J. B. Kerr, of Toronto, is in town.

The band had a meeting, and appointed an executive committee. A thorough organization will be perfected on the arrival of new instruments.

Today was the last day of school at the Immaculate Conception schools. A treat to the scholars will follow Monday.

Mrs. J. W. Menough is visiting Pittsburg friends.

Reverend Bower announces his summer vacation after next Sunday's services. The reverend will also wed a prominent young lady.

A warrant is out for a young man, alleged to have beaten his sister-in-law, in a family jangle.

The Wellsville correspondent of the NEWS REVIEW was ill yesterday, and absence of correspondence is explained.

John Saltzman, of Nicholson addition, is ill.

There were 600 on the Rechabite excursion when it left Wellsville yesterday, being the best patronized of the season.

An oil well will be drilled on the Chase DeSelle farm, at Port Homer, by a Pittsburg firm.

The Tophet Navies and the Hillside Navies will cross bats shortly in deadly baseball conflict.

Deputy Oil Inspector A. G. McKensie was called to Franklin, Pa., yesterday to inspect oil, owing to the illness of Deputy Inspector Lockwood, of Ashtabula. Mr. McKensie states that one of the Standard's largest refining companies is located at Franklin, and the mountain scenery surrounding is magnificent.

Ex-Officer J. W. Johnson, of the Pennsylvania company's detective force, is here, called by the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. Alex Smith. Mr. Johnson has a beat between Coshocton and Toledo.

The mysterious affair of Fourteenth street, published in a local paper, is pronounced by Mr. Vandyke, the owner of the property, a fake of the first water, which is calculated to injure his property. The story evidently originated in the mind of a would-be detective reporter. The officers who investigated the affair pronounced it not worthy of mention. The family were traveling, and, like all other immigrants, were doing their best to make both ends meet.

S. S. Sharp has resumed work at the shop after a month's lay off. The clerks have postponed their game with Georgetown until Tuesday next.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, JUNE 18.

THERE is every reason to believe that the tariff bill will pass the senate before the end of the present month.

BUSINESS reports are very pleasing. Dun's latest review says the gain is moderate but distinct. Alas for calamity howlers.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY is giving the Cuban question very careful consideration. He may yet astonish the blustering Dons.

DISSENSIONS in the Republican ranks are conspicuous by their absence, much to the chagrin, discomfiture and disappointment of the unwashed and untrified.

AND now the silverites are talking of unloading poor Billy Jennings Bryan. They say he is a man of too many "isms." In other words, his mental bike has too many wheels.

THE Pops. are disgusted with the Democrats. Senator Allen says of the Democracy: "They seem to be willing to abandon the tenets of the party, and adopt the plan of every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." Alas and alas.

SAMUEL J. RANDALL, clean Democrat and patriot, the firm and unyielding champion of protection to home industries, is now being quoted liberally by the Democracy of that section which fought him with exceeding great bitterness during the closing period of his grandly useful career.

A WONDROUS CHANGE.

One-third of the Southern vote in the present congress has been cast for protection. Comment is unnecessary.

BIKE RIDING.

The city authorities should compel bike riders to abandon the bad habit of riding with hands off the handle bars. Scorching is evidently permitted by the police, as one of the force was seen looking at an incident of this kind on Fifth street the other night, when the thoroughfare was crowded with riders, old and young, male and female, and when life might have been lost through the rush of the crazy scorchers, and the blue coat merely laughed, walked on and gave the affair no further attention. That roundsman is not making any arrests, if they can possibly be avoided.

OH YE CALAMITY HOWLERS.

Poor, poor, unhonored, unworshipped and unsung, your occupation is almost nill, null and void. Where be your prophecies and prognostications of six months ago? Alas, poor Yorick. Look at this, ye hyenas and howlers from away back: WHEAT has practically doubled in value. WOOL has gone up 50 per cent. SHEEP have nearly doubled in price, and other articles of farm production have largely increased in value, while silver has steadily gone down in price, until it has reached nearly or quite the lowest point in its history. Go to, ye howlers, and seek the graveyard of oblivion.

A FULL REPORT.

THE NEWS-REVIEW has given, from the very start of the Robison murder trial at Lisbon, a complete and comprehensive report of the same, excluding all nastiness from these columns, and so toning down such features, and wording the same, as to give offense to no one. Jealous rivals, boasting of great enterprise and journalistic push, have been cast utterly in the shade, while all important news of East Liverpool and vicinity have received full attention. Excuse us, readers, when we rise to remark that the NEWS REVIEW is fully up to the times, and caters to the public in an acceptable manner.

AN ABSENT WITNESS.

written on the stationery of the Hotel Grand. It was nothing but a friendly letter. No sir, there wasn't an expression in it that would make Robison or any other sane man think his wife was after me. I went to live at their house because my folks wouldn't have me around when I was drinking. I honestly believe that somebody put Robison up to this. You know they never found that letter, and I don't believe they ever will. I can't think of any reason why Robison should write that letter. There are some things about this case that I don't suppose will ever be made known. If they should be you will find, I think, that some people, other than Robison, know something about it."

Stewart is very anxious to return to Pittsburg, and he thinks he will get away this afternoon. He says he has had enough of the whole thing.

THEY DON'T CARE.

Robison's Friends Are Not at All Sympathetic.

LISBON, June 18. — [Special] — The Pittsburg friends of Zach Robison are nothing if not hard hearted. Since the trial began they have paid him but very little attention, and he sits day after day neglected and alone but for the kindly offices of Judge Young and Attorney Grosshans. His son and his father never approach him while court is in session, and seldom even look at him during the recess. Today one of the boys spoke to him a few minutes, and his face lightened up with a smile that has not been there since the trial began. "Some of the witnesses who came from Pittsburg talked a great deal while here, and if the stories they told are true, Columbia county should be glad to know that they have crossed the border. While apparently on the best of terms, they were prone to recall each other's deeds while talking to strangers. Old Mr. Robison will return to Beallsville today. While his wife is still living, she is in a precarious condition, and he believes his duty is there. Dave Robison, the Punxsutawney tailor, believes he will return Saturday morning, and hear the news of the verdict at home.

ROBISON UNEASY.

He Did Not Sleep Well, and Complained of a Pain in His Side.

LISBON, June 18. — [Special] — Robison was brought into court this morning from a drug store, where he had been taken on his way from jail. He did not sleep well last night, and was sick and complained of a severe pain in his side, and looks as though he had passed the worst night since his incarceration. There is much speculation as to what the jury will return, and opinions are as numerous almost as people. Some of those who have watched the jury during the past few days express the belief that there will be a disagreement, while others are confident the state has made its case. On the other hand the defense apparently believes there is not much room for doubt as far as the verdict is concerned.

IT WAS VERY FUNNY.

And the Incident Made the Lady Blush Rosily.

She is well known, and formerly resided in East Liverpool, where she has a host of friends and acquaintances. She was passing a prominent drug store last evening, and noted two gentlemen seated at the soda fountain. One of the gentlemen was about the size of her husband, and wore the same class and color of costume. She stepped quietly behind him, glanced archly and coquettishly over his shoulder and remarked:

"Just order one for us, too, dear," referring to herself and a lady friend, the latter now residing in East Liverpool.

The stranger addressed glanced up into the lady's face, and she blushed rosily as she hastily stepped back, remarking:

"I earnestly beg your pardon, sir. I thought you were my husband."

There were smiles all round. Don't say that we told you. Selah.

A PLEASANT REUNION.

"Jim's" Boarders Were Out on a Lark Last Night.

A number of well known ladies and gentlemen of East Liverpool, who formed a party which went down to the World's Fair together, reunited at the residence of Murray Nichol, Third street, last night, and report an elegant time. Reminiscences of the time they had at "Jim's," Chicago, brought forth roars of laughter last night. Delicious ice cream and cake reminded them of the feast which "Jim" set up.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure. Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against all forms of adulterations common to the cheap brands. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

BETROTHAL CARDS.

Engagement of Jacob W. Stein and Miss Fannie C. Miller.

Handsome betrothal cards are out announcing the engagement of our popular young townsman, Jacob W. Stein, to Miss Fannie C. Miller, of Charleroi, Pa. Mr. Stein is the well-known proprietor of the People's Bargain Store, Sixth street, while Miss Miller is one of the most popular young ladies of Charleroi. We hope to chronicle the consummation of the betrothal in the near future.

IN EIGHT DAYS.

The New Summer Cars Will Soon Be Running.

Manager Hoefgen, when asked the exact date when the new cars the company ordered would arrive, said that he was satisfied they would be here by Saturday next. The makers will start them on the road next Monday, and it should not take more than five days to make the trip. They will be put in operation as soon as received.

A TRIO OF SUITS.

Business in the Squire's Court Is Picking Up.

Mrs. A. T. Farmer has commenced a forcible detention action against T. A. Beatty. The case will be heard Monday.

E. T. Lippert sues Cyrus Ragel to recover $100. The case will be aired tomorrow.

Mrs. G. Griffiths Dix has entered suit to recover $4.50 from Elijah and William T. Benton. It will be tried tomorrow.

THE SEWER EXTENSION.

The Committee Performed Their Work Yesterday.

Messrs. Cain, Stewart and Olmhausen, the committee appointed at the last meeting of council to view the proposed Elm street sewer, did their work yesterday afternoon, and at the next meeting will recommend that the sewer be built as soon as possible.

DEMOCRATIC VOTERS.

The Democratic voters of East Liverpool and township will meet at city hall Friday night, June 18, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting nineteen delegates to the county convention, and also to select a central committee for city and township. By order committee, J. J. WEISAND, JOHN W. HALL, Chairman. Secretary.

Allegheny Athletics vs. East Liverpool, Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19, at Rock Spring park.

Memorial Chapel.

Subscription papers are out among our business and professional men, and the public in general, asking for donations to the memorial chapel fund. The cause is a noble one, and our citizens will respond in the right manner. The chapel will be an honor and a credit to Columbiana county.

The odds are against the "Fats." But they are willing to wager that they will defeat the "Leans" on Tuesday afternoon next, June 22, at Rock Spring Park.

THE CHARGE OF NON-SUPPORT

Caused W. J. Harvey Some Trouble Last Evening.

William J. Harvey, of Salent, was arrested last evening by Constable Lyon as he was about to leave on a special train for that city on a charge of non-support preferred against him by his wife, Alice R. Harvey. He was taken to the office of Justice Rose where the charge was read to him, and to which he pleaded guilty. He was about to be taken to the jail when he asked to see his wife. The constable then took Harvey to the home of his wife on Washington street, when, after a short talk with his wife, he decided to provide for their child in the future. He left a sum of money with her, and after paying the costs was allowed to go.

Harvey was well dressed, and when arrested made a lot of noise. This had no effect on the officer, much to the delight of a large number of spectators.

VIRGINIA BOYS.

They Are Celebrating Today at Comrade John Geers'.

The comrades of the West Virginia veterans are celebrating today at the residence of Comrade John Geers, near Calcutta, and the lady members of their families are also present, helping materially in making the anniversary a joyful one. The occasion is the anniversary of the battle of Lynchburg, which was fought on the 18th of June, 1864. Comrades participating today were connected with the First and Twelfth regiments of West Virginia infantry, the Third cavalry and Battery D. Comrades Allison and McGraw were members of Battery D, and Comrade Bowers was adjutant of the Third cavalry. The West Virginia troops did grand service during the rebellion, and their record is one of which the members of the various organizations may well be proud.

HIT IN THE EYE.

John McLaughlin Was Struck With a Shovel.

John McLaughlin met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was superintending the work of digging the cellar for the new W. L. Thompson block, at the corner of Broadway and Third street, when he got too close to a workman shoveling dirt, and was hit in the eye with the shovel. A painful but not serious wound was inflicted.

ROUGH ON WITNESSES.

written on the stationery of the Hotel Grand. It was nothing but a friendly letter. No sir, there wasn't an expression in it that would make Robison or any other sane man think his wife was after me. I went to live at their house because my folks wouldn't have me around when I was drinking. I honestly believe that somebody put Robison up to this. You know they never found that letter, and I don't believe they ever will. I can't think of any reason why Robison should write that letter. There are some things about this case that I don't suppose will ever be made known. If they should be you will find, I think, that some people, other than Robison, know something about it."

Stewart is very anxious to return to Pittsburg, and he thinks he will get away this afternoon. He says he has had enough of the whole thing.

THEY DON'T CARE.

Robison's Friends Are Not at All Sympathetic.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—The Pittsburg friends of Zach Robison are nothing if not hard hearted. Since the trial began they have paid him but very little attention, and he sits day after day neglected and alone but for the kindly offices of Judge Young and Attorney Grosshans. His son and his father never approach him while court is in session, and seldom even look at him during the recess. Today one of the boys spoke to him a few minutes, and his face lightened up with a smile that has not been there since the trial began. "Some of the witnesses who came from Pittsburg talked a great deal while here, and if the stories they told are true, Columbiana county should be glad to know that they have crossed the border. While apparently on the best of terms, they were prone to recall each other's deeds while talking to strangers. Old Mr. Robison will return to Beallsville today. While his wife is still living, she is in a precarious condition, and he believes his duty is there. Dave Robison, the Punxsutawney tailor, believes he will return Saturday morning, and hear the news of the verdict at home."

ROBISON UNEASY.

He Did Not Sleep Well, and Complained of a Pain in His Side.

LISBON, June 18.—[Special]—Robison was brought into court this morning from a drug store, where he had been taken on his way from jail. He did not sleep well last night, and was sick and complained of a severe pain in his side, and looks as though he had passed the worst night since his incarceration.

There is much speculation as to what the jury will return, and opinions are as numerous almost as people. Some of those who have watched the jury during the past few days express the belief that there will be a disagreement, while others are confident the state has made its case. On the other hand the defense apparently believes there is not much room for doubt as far as the verdict is concerned.

IT WAS VERY FUNNY.

And the Incident Made the Lady Blush Rosily.

She is well known, and formerly resided in East Liverpool, where she has a host of friends and acquaintances. She was passing a prominent drug store last evening, and noted two gentlemen seated at the soda fountain. One of the gentlemen was about the size of her husband, and wore the same class and color of costume. She stepped quietly behind him, glanced archly and coquettishly over his shoulder and remarked:

"Just order one for us, too, dear," referring to herself and a lady friend, the latter now residing in East Liverpool.

The stranger addressed glanced up into the lady's face, and she blushed rosily as she hastily stepped back, remarking:

"I earnestly beg your pardon, sir. I thought you were my husband."

There were smiles all round. Don't say that we told you. Selah.

A PLEASANT REUNION.

"Jim's" Boarders Were Out On a Lark Last Night.

A number of well known ladies and gentlemen of East Liverpool, who formed a party which went down to the World's Fair together, reined at the residence of Murray Nichol, Third street, last night, and report an elegant time. Reminiscences of the time they had at "Jim's," Chicago, brought forth roars of laughter last night. Delicious ice cream and cake reminded them of the feast which "Jim" set up.

E. T. Lippert sues Cyrus Ragel to recover $155. The case will be aired tomorrow.

Mrs. G. Griffiths Dix has entered suit to recover $4.50 from Elijah and William T. Benton. It will be tried tomorrow.

THE SEWER EXTENSION.

The Committee Performed Their Work Yesterday.

Messrs. Cain, Stewart and Olmhausen, the committee appointed at the last meeting of council to view the proposed Elm street sewer, did their work yesterday afternoon, and at the next meeting will recommend that the sewer be built as soon as possible.

DEMOCRATIC VOTERS.

Caused W. J. Harvey Some Trouble Last Evening.

William J. Harvey, of Salem, was arrested last evening by Constable Lyon as he was about to leave on a special train for that city on a charge of non-support preferred against him by his wife, Alice R. Harvey. He was taken to the office of Justice Rose where the charge was read to him, and to which he pleaded guilty. He was about to be taken to the jail when he asked to see his wife. The constable then took Harvey to the home of his wife on Washington street, when, after a short talk with his wife, he decided to provide for their child in the future. He left a sum of money with her, and after paying the costs was allowed to go.

Harvey was well dressed, and when arrested made a lot of noise. This had no effect on the officer, much to the delight of a large number of spectators.

VIRGINIA BOYS.

They Are Celebrating Today at Comrade John Geers'.

The comrades of the West Virginia veterans are celebrating today at the residence of Comrade John Geers, near Calcutta, and the lady members of their families are also present, helping materially in making the anniversary a joyful one. The occasion is the anniversary of the battle of Lynchburg, which was fought on the 18th of June, 1864. Comrades participating today were connected with the First and Twelfth regiments of West Virginia infantry, the Third cavalry and Battery D. Comrades Allison and McGraw were members of Battery D, and Comrade Bowers was adjutant of the Third cavalry. The West Virginia troops did grand service during the rebellion, and their record is one of which the members of the various organizations may well be proud.

QUEEN LIL PROTESTS.

Files Objections to Hawaiian Annexation Treaty.

NO RATIFICATION THIS SESSION.

Enemies of the Treaty Will Likely Be Able to Have Immediate Action Postponed—Secretary Sherman's Argument In Favor of Annexing the Islands.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani has filed a protest in the office of the secretary of state against the annexation treaty. In it she says: "I declare such a treaty to be an act of wrong towards the native and part-native people of Hawaii, an invasion of the rights of the ruling chiefs, in violation of international rights, both toward my people and toward friendly nations with whom they have made treaties, the perpetration of the fraud whereby the constitutional government was overthrown and finally an act of gross injustice to me.

"The president of the United States, the secretary of state and an envoy commissioned by them reported in official documents that my government was unlawfully coerced by the forces, diplomatic and naval, of the United States, that I was at the date of their investigations the constitutional ruler of my people.

"Such decision of the recognized magistrates of the United States was officially communicated to me and to Sanford B. Dole, and said Dole's resignation requested by Albert S. Willis, the recognized agent and minister of the government of the United States.

"Neither the above named commission nor the government which sends it has ever received any such authority from the registered voters of Hawaii, but derives its assumed powers from the so-called committee of public safety, organized on or about Jan. 17, 1893, said committee being composed largely of persons claiming American citizenship, and not one single Hawaiian was a member thereof or in any way participated in the demonstration leading to its existence.

"My people, about 40,000 in number, have in no way been consulted by those 3,000 in number who claim the right to destroy the independence of Hawaii. My people constitute four-fifths of the legally qualified voters of Hawaii."

The impression is now prevalent in the senate, even by the friends of Hawaiian annexation, that the treaty cannot be ratified at the present session if there is any such opposition as promised.

A notable document presenting the leading phases of the arguments for annexation has come to light. It was prepared by Secretary Sherman and was addressed to the president.

The secretary said: "It does not seem necessary to the present purpose of the undersigned to review the incident of 1893, which similar treaty of cession was signed on Feb. 14 and submitted to the senate, being subsequently withdrawn by the president on the 9th of March following. The negotiation, which has culminated in the treaty now submitted, has not been a mere resumption of the negotiation of 1893, but was initiated and has been conducted upon independent lines. Then an abrupt revolutionary movement had brought about the dethronement of the late queen and set up instead of the heretofore titular monarchy a provisional government for the control and management of public affairs and the protection of the public peace, such government to exist only until terms of union with the United States should have been negotiated and agreed upon. Thus self-constituted, its promoters claimed for it only a defacto existence until the purpose of annexation in which it took rise should be accomplished.

"As time passed and the plan of union with the United States became an uncertain contingency, the organization of the Hawaiian commonwealth underwent necessary changes; the temporary character of its first government gave place to a permanent scheme under a constitution framed by the representatives of the electors of the islands, administration by an executive council not chosen by suffrage but self-appointed was surrounded by an elective and parliamentary regime and the ability of the new government to hold—as the republic of Hawaii—an independent place in the family of sovereign states, preserving order at home and fulfilling international obligations abroad, has been put to the proof. Recognized by the powers by the early sending and receiving of envoys, enforcing respect for the law and maintaining peace within its island borders, Hawaii sends to the United States not a commission representing a successful revolution, but the accredited plenipotentiary of a constituted and firmly established sovereign state. However sufficient may have been the authority of the commissioners with whom the United States government treated in 1893, and however satisfied the president may then have been of their power to offer the domain of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States, the fact remains that what they then tendered was a territory rather than an established government, a country whose administration had been cast down by a bloodless but complete revolution and a community in a state of political transition.

"Now, however, the republic of Hawaii approaches the United States as an equal and points for its authority to that provision of article 32 of the constitution, promulgated July 24, 1894: "The president, with the approval of the cabinet, is hereby authorized and empowered to make a treaty of political or commercial union between the republic of Hawaii and the United States of America, subject to the ratification of the senate.

"There remained therefore the annexation of the islands and their complete absorption into the political system of the United States as the only solution satisfying all the given conditions and promising permanency and mutual benefit. The present treaty has been framed on that basis, thus substantially reverting to the original proposal of 1893, and necessarily adopting many of the features of that arrangement. As to most of these, the negotiators have been constrained and limited by the constitutional powers of the government of the United States.

"As in previous instances when the United States has acquired territory by treaty, it has been necessary to reserve all the organic provisions for the action of congress. If this was requisite in the case transfer to the United States of a part of the domain of a titular sovereign, as in the cession of Louisiana by France, of Florida by Spain, or of Alaska by Russia, it is the more requisite when the act is not cession but union, involving the complete incorporation of an alien sovereignty into the body politic of the United States. For this the only precedent of our political history is found in the uncompleted treaty concluded during President Grant's administration, Nov. 29, 1869, for the annexation of the dominican republic to the United States. Following that example, the treaty now signed by the plenipotentiaries of the United States and the republic of Hawaii reserves to the congress of the United States the determination of all questions affecting the form of government of the annexed territory, the citizenship and elective franchise of its inhabitants and the manner in which the laws of the United States are to be extended to the islands.

"In order that this independence of the congress shall be complete and unquestionable and pursuant to the recognized of public law that treaties expire with the independent life of the contracting state, there has been introduced, out of abundant caution, an express proviso for the determination of all treaties heretofore concluded by Hawaii with foreign nations and the extension to the islands of the treaties of the United States. This leaves congress free to deal with such special regulation of the contract labor system of the islands as circumstances may require. There being no general provision of existing statutes to prescribe the form of government for newly incorporated territory it was necessary to stipulate, as in the dominican precedent, for continuing the existing machinery of the government and laws in the Hawaiian Islands until provision shall be made by law for the government as a territory of the United States of the domain thus incorporated into the Union; but, having in view the peculiar status created in Hawaii by laws enacted in execution of treaties heretofore concluded between Hawaii and other countries, only such Hawaiian laws are thus provisionally continued as shall not be incompatible with the constitution or the laws of the United States or with the provisions of this treaty.

"It will be noticed that express stipulation is made prohibiting the coming of Chinese laborers from the Hawaiian Islands to any part of our national territory. This provision was proper and necessary in view of the Chinese exclusion acts, and it behooves the negotiators to see to it that this treaty, which in turn is to become, in due constitutional course, a supreme law of the land, shall not alter or amend existing law in this most important regard."

NEARING THE WOOL SCHEDULE.

The Senate Making Rapid Progress on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The senate made greater progress on the tariff bill than any day since the debate opened. Two entire schedules, covering 20 pages, were completed, namely, schedules H, on spirits, wines and beverages, and schedule I, on manufactured cotton goods. This brings the senate to the flax schedule, with the important wool schedule standing next.

The portion of the bill passed is substantially the same as reported, all committee changes being unimportant while the opposition amendments of Mr. Jones (Ark.) and Mr. Vest were systematically rejected by majorities varying from 5 to 10. Mr. Allison secured the addition of a new paragraph to the cotton schedule with a view to compensating the cotton manufacturers for the recent action of the senate in placing raw cotton in the dutiable list.

Foreign Representative Will Help Wilson Remove Prejudice.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The action outlined in the interview with Bellamy Storer before sailing for Europe looking to vigorous representations to Great Britain, Germany and Belgium and doubtless to France for a modification of the discriminating measures against American cattle is the result of the indefatigable efforts of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to combat the prejudices of the old world against our farm products and to secure to our exporters at least the same rights as are enjoyed by those of other countries.

Ever since the new administration began Secretary Wilson has been pushing this matter and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the ends sought.

"There remained therefore the annexation of the islands and their complete absorption into the political system of the United States as the only solution satisfying all the given conditions and promising permanency and mutual benefit. The present treaty has been framed on that basis, thus substantially reverting to the original proposal of 1893, and necessarily adopting many of the features of that arrangement. As to most of these, the negotiators have been constrained and limited by the constitutional powers of the government of the United States.

"As in previous instances when the United States has acquired territory by treaty, it has been necessary to reserve all the organic provisions for the action of congress. If this was requisite in the case transfer to the United States of a part of the domain of a titular sovereign, as in the cession of Louisiana by France, of Florida by Spain, or of Alaska by Russia, it is the more requisite when the act is not cession but union, involving the complete incorporation of an alien sovereignty into the body politic of the United States. For this the only precedent of our political history is found in the uncompleted treaty concluded during President Grant's administration, Nov. 29, 1899, for the annexation of the dominion republic to the United States. Following that example, the treaty now signed by the plenipotentiaries of the United States and the republic of Hawaii reserves to the congress of the United States the determination of all questions affecting the form of government of the annexed territory, the citizenship and elective franchise of its inhabitants and the manner in which the laws of the United States are to be extended to the islands.

"In order that this independence of the congress shall be complete and unquestionable and pursuant to the recognized of public law that treaties expire with the independent life of the contracting state, there has been introduced, out of abundant caution, an express proviso for the determination of all treaties heretofore concluded by Hawaii with foreign nations and the extension to the islands of the treaties of the United States. This leaves congress free to deal with such special regulation of the contract labor system of the islands as circumstances may require. There being no general provision of existing statutes to prescribe the form of government for newly incorporated territory it was necessary to stipulate, as in the dominion precedent, for continuing the existing machinery of the government and laws in the Hawaiian Islands until provision shall be made by law for the government as a territory of the United States of the domain thus incorporated into the Union; but, having in view the peculiar status created in Hawaii by laws enacted in execution of treaties heretofore concluded between Hawaii and other countries, only such Hawaiian laws are thus provisionally continued as shall not be incompatible with the constitution or the laws of the United States or with the provisions of this treaty.

"It will be noticed that express stipulation is made prohibiting the coming of Chinese laborers from the Hawaiian Islands to any part of our national territory. This provision was proper and necessary in view of the Chinese exclusion acts, and it behooves the negotiators to see to it that this treaty, which in turn is to become, in due constitutional course, a supreme law of the land, shall not alter or amend existing law in this most important regard."

NEARING THE WOOL SCHEDULE.

The Senate Making Rapid Progress on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The senate made greater progress on the tariff bill than any day since the debate opened. Two entire schedules, covering 20 pages, were completed, namely, schedules H, on spirits, wines and beverages, and schedule I, on manufactured cotton goods. This brings the senate to the flax schedule, with the important wool schedule standing next.

The portion of the bill passed is substantially the same as reported, all committee changes being unimportant while the opposition amendments of Mr. Jones (Ark.) and Mr. Vest were systematically rejected by majorities varying from 5 to 10. Mr. Allison secured the addition of a new paragraph to the cotton schedule with a view to compensating the cotton manufacturers for the recent action of the senate in placing raw cotton in the dutiable list.

FIGHTING FOR OUR PRODUCTS.

Foreign Representative Will Help Wilson Remove Prejudice.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The action outlined in the interview with Bellamy Storer before sailing for Europe looking to vigorous representations to Great Britain, Germany and Belgium and doubtless to France for a modification of the discriminating measures against American cattle is the result of the indefatigable efforts of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to combat the prejudices of the old world against our farm products and to secure to our exporters at least the same rights as are enjoyed by those of other countries.

Ever since the new administration began Secretary Wilson has been pushing this matter and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain the ends sought.

NEURALGIA

is pain in the nerves. It is thought by some medical experts to be caused by poverty of the blood, which condition lowers the tone of the nerves and starves them.

Unless the poisons and waste matter in the blood are filtered out of it by the kidneys into the urine, the blood will carry disease instead of nourishment to the nerves. Neuralgia, or pain in the nerves is the danger signal or symptom which nature uses to warn the victim of danger.

This condition can be

CURED

A few days ago I took up one of your little books on kidney diseases, and noticed Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills not only cures kidney troubles, but neuralgia and rheumatism also. As I had experienced many hours of misery from neuralgia, I concluded to try your Sparagus Kidney Pills. I must say they have wrought wonders in my case, as they have driven the neuralgia all out of me, and I am now in the best of health and happy state of mind.—H. F. FLIGHTS OF ORATORY

Hushed by Flashes of Lightning at Defiance.

REHEARSING GRADUATES STUNNED

The Opera House Struck During a Storm. Men Killed Near Ayersville and at Wapakoneta—Big Reservoir Burst at McArthur—Buildings Damaged.

DEFIANCE, O., June 18.—During the terrific thunderstorm in this section Jacob Griner, a farmer near Ayersville, this county, was struck by lightning while in his stable and instantly killed. The barn was destroyed. Lightning struck the Citizens' Opera House in this city while the high school graduating class was rehearsing and Clinton Garvey and Fred Haller, members of the class, were knocked senseless. Garvey being rendered both blind and deaf for an hour.

At Wapakoneta Peter Tabler, a farmer, was killed by lightning in his house, which was consumed by fire. His wife and children were seriously injured by the fire. The Methodist church at New Hampshire, this county, was struck by lightning and badly damaged.

At Canal Dover the electric light wires were burned out during the storm, leaving the city in darkness. The big reservoir at McArthur gave way, flooding the surrounding lands and demolishing the crops.

In Delaware county the storm ruined growing crops by the acre.

CINCINNATI, June 18.—Rainstorms accompanied by electrical phenomena are reported throughout the Ohio valley. Three cases of sunstroke are at the hospitals here. Much damage is reported to the crops. Floods are reported everywhere and the electrical effects at Springfield and Gallipolis, O., Lexington, Catlettsburg and Ashland, Ky., were such as to make some believe there was an earthquake.

At North Manchester, Ind., two men were drowned in the river, and at West Union, O., a family of three narrowly escaped drowning.

At Spencerville, O., Daniel Miller and his team were killed by lightning while working in the field. Near Wilmington, O., George Seaman's stock barn was demolished by lightning and valuable stock lost. Henry McGoveny lost many fine cattle by lightning. A fishing camp narrowly escaped from lightning and afterward from flood.

Near McArthur, O., several bridges were swept away, including the trestle on the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo railway.

The storm caused a land slide near Dingess, W. Va., which took a train of 20 freight cars with it and killed two tramps.

THE JR. O. U. A. M. FACTIONS.

Administration Adherents Won In Fight at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, June 18.—The administration faction of the Jr. A. M. won a victory when one recommendation of the finance committee was voted down.

That committee recommended that the services of a national organizer be dispensed with, and that none be elected or appointed at this session, and in place thereof the sum of $5,000 be appropriated and set aside for the use of the board of officers in the appointment of special organizers, special and deputy national councilors for such states as they, in the exercise of their judgment and discretion, shall deem necessary for the general good and advancement of our cause therein, and the maintenance of councils that have or may hereafter be instituted.

The entire session was devoted to the consideration of this recommendation. The roll call began on an amendment to it that the office of national organizer be continued and the sum of $7,500 be appropriated to that branch. This amendment was carried by a vote which showed the administration faction to be largely in the lead.

Later the national council and invited guests boarded the steamer Elizabeth for an excursion up the Monongahela river. The boat was beautifully decorated with the national colors. About 400 persons were on board and an elegant lunch was served. The excursion was under the auspices of the local entertainment committee.

During the trip the Homestead steelworks were visited and the visitors were shown through the plant.

To Remove Lewelling.

TOPEKA, June 18.—State Superintendent Striker declares that at the next meeting of the executive council, June 30, he will introduce a resolution to remove ex-Governor Lewelling from the state board of railroad commissioners, unless he should choose to resign, owing to charges of wrongdoing at the recent legislative investigation.

Pennsylvania Republicans.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The Republican state convention, to nominate candidates for auditor, general and state treasurer, will, in all probability, take place in Harrisburg Aug. 26. Chairman Eldkins sent a communication to the Philadelphia members of the committee submitting that date for their approval. It met with unanimous approval.

McKinley to Visit Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 18.—President McKinley and his cabinet will come to Chicago to take part in the unveiling of the John A. Logan statue in the Lake Front park.

THE LUTHERANS ADJOURNED.

A Parting Snap Given the United Brethren Church.

MANSFIELD, O., June 18.—The general Lutheran synod has completed its work and formally adjourned.

Rev. M. S. Crossman of Lewisburg, Pa., offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

"Whereas, The general synod has protested against American denominations using money raised by them for foreign missions, in the Lutheran lands of Europe, for the apparent purpose of winning Lutheran people from their allegiance to the church, as confessed by the Lutheran church, to personal connection with other denominations; and

"Resolved, That we decline further exchange of delegates with the church body here represented."

Rev. Crossman explained that the church body referred to was the United Brethren.

The report of the committee on ecclesiastical correspondence, read by Rev. J. R. Dimm, showed that close fraternal relations exists between the general synod and nearly all other Christian denominations.

President Hamma appointed Rev. Drs. G. M. Graue, Tiro, O.; J. A. Clutz, Atchison, Kan., and G. M. Gilson, Harrisburg, as a committee from the general synod to join similar committees from the general council and the united synod of the south constituting a board of arbitration to which all matters of denominational discussion shall be referred.

By unanimous vote York, Pa., was selected as the place of meeting for the next general synod.

THE QUEEN READS PROGRAMS.

Further Evidence That She Is Not Blind In Fair Health.

WINDSOR, England, June 18.—Her majesty's bright and cheerful aspect when she arrived here gave emphatic contradiction to the story published in a New York newspaper this week that she had become totally blind. In addition, it is learned that the queen has personally read numerous documents and programs connected with the jubilee festivities during the past few days and that within the same time she has with her own hand written frequent corrections and alterations. It is also known that her majesty has recently corrected the proofs of a new book on her reign.

As to her general health, evidence of its being perfectly satisfactory for a woman of her age is furnished in the fact that it was at first arranged that, on returning to the palace on Jubilee day, June 22, the order of the procession would be reversed, in order to enable her majesty to return at the earliest possible moment, but she has now decided to keep in the same place along the whole route, thus involving another half an hour of fatigue in the streets.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

Merchants and business men must have advertisements in this office on the evening previous to insertion in this paper. This rule is imperative, and is an absolute necessity resulting in good to paper and patron.

The largest bonafide "paid" general circulation of any daily published in East Liverpool. Advertisers will make note.

Manager.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The fountain in the Diamond was not running yesterday afternoon.

An Italian with a hand organ made life a burden for a few today.

The Delmonico club today feasted on a handsome 12-pound carp, the catch of Mr. George C. Morton.

A wagon load of straw upset this morning on Andrew Patterson in Chester, breaking his ankle.

Five boys were put off the excursion train at Yellow Creek yesterday. They were trying to beat their way.

The board of education will meet again this evening, and there is a possibility that the election of a superintendent will again be laid over for two weeks.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. John Lutton, of Avondale street, last evening stepped on a piece of broken glass and had its foot very badly cut, and it was feared for a time it would bleed to death.

T. Bryan, of Hookstown, and Mr. Waters, of Jackson Springs, were arrested yesterday for being drunk and disorderly. They were fined $6.60.

Mr. and Mrs. Will George drove in from Palestine yesterday and report a pleasant jaunt. They will return home today. East Liverpool is well represented at Palestine. Will reports rents very reasonable at that point.

A boy, not yet 12 years of age, under the influence of liquor, was seen in Franklin street, last evening, and was taken in charge by some charitable people, and taken to his home in West End. He had in his possession a pint of whisky.

Press Censor During the War.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Benjamin P. Snyder, president of the National Safe Deposit Savings and Trust company, has died here. He was 62 years old. He was press censor and custodian of the telegraph service of the war department while Lincoln was president.

French and Italians Fight.

PARIS, June 18.—In a fight between Italian and French workmen at Barcarin, near St. Louis du Rhone, two Frenchmen were killed. The district was intensely excited and the police quelled further disturbances.

Tired of Russell Sage.

NEW YORK, June 18.—A formidable movement is on foot to oust Russell Sage from the presidency of the Iowa Central Railway company.

The Weather.

Showers; probably clearing tonight; light variable winds.

THE BARS ARE DOWN

Nothing but doubt now hinders you from securing the best product of the weavers art, and the tailors skill, at an average of at least one-third off from current prices. Nothing but doubt, we said, and that one obstacle will be removed when you glance into our show windows, or better still, when you examine the goods in our store. People in smaller cities are not so much influenced by advertising as they are in more cosmopolitan locations. We know there are hundreds of men here, wedded to certain concerns, from which it is as difficult to wean them, as it would be for others to take trade from us.

It is mainly for your trade we've made these cuts, gentlemen, and though you've never had cause to doubt the absolute accuracy of our newspaper statements, we'll furnish additional evidence. Your own eyes will not deceive you, you must credit your sense of touch, you are at liberty, you are invited to look, to examine, to compare. You need not buy unless there is a clean saving from $3 to $6.00 on each suit. Even after you've bought you have the privilege of returning and get your money back. Does that sound as if we were sure of our ground? We're bidding for greater trade. We're buying it with well deserved profits. We want continual animation, and we're willing to pay liberally for it.

First Englishman—Going to America to get a wife?

Second Englishman—Aw, yaas. Are you?

"Naw, I'm going, duntcherknow, to get away from one."—New York Times.

Western Australia's supply of jarrah and karri, the hard woods used for street pavements, is practically inexhaustible. The jarrah (Eucalyptus marginati) covers 14,000 square miles of the country and the karri (E. diversicolor) 2,000 square miles more.

The following are said by a Swiss hunter to have been found near the nest of an eagle he recently discovered in the Alps: A hare, 27 chamois' feet, 4 pigeons' feet, 30 pheasants' feet, 11 heads of fowls, 18 heads of grouse, and the remains of a number of rabbits, marmots and squirrels.

room on Kossini, found him tramping the piano with all his might, but drawing the most discordant noise from the instrument. "What in the name of all that is good are you playing?" asked the Frenchman. "I am trying to play that new score of Wagner's," replied the Italian. "But the score is upside down." "That's true," was the retort. "I had it the other way up at first, but couldn't make head or tail of it, so I thought I might succeed in this way."

Poker at the Capital.

Some of the stories of the big games of the "old days" are taken with a large grain of salt. Many of them were similar to the game in which ex-Congressman Tom Ochiltree was engaged not so very long ago. Ochiltree was discovered one morning coming down Fifteenth street, looking very blue. A friend meeting him inquired what the trouble was. "Oh, I was in one of those big congressional games last night," said the Texan.

"Well, I suppose from your looks that you lost," said the friend.

"Well, I should say I did," responded Ochiltree. "I lost $50,000 in one sitting last night, and the worst part of it is that $2.75 of it was cash."—Washington Cor. Philadelphia Press.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The fountain in the Diamond was not running yesterday afternoon.

An Italian with a hand organ made life a burden for a few today.

The Delmonico club today feasted on a handsome 12-pound carp, the catch of Mr. George C. Morton.

A wagon load of straw upset this morning on Andrew Patterson in Chester, breaking his ankle.

Five boys were put off the excursion train at Yellow Creek yesterday. They were trying to beat their way.

The board of education will meet again this evening, and there is a possibility that the election of a superintendent will again be laid over for two weeks.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. John Lutter, of Avondale street, last evening stepped on a piece of broken glass and had its foot very badly cut, and it was feared for a time it would bleed to death.

T. Bryan, of Hookstown, and Mr. Waters, of Jackson Springs, were arrested yesterday for being drunk and disorderly. They were fined $6.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Will George drove in from Palestine yesterday and report a pleasant jaunt. They will return home today. East Liverpool is well represented at Palestine. Will reports rents very reasonable at that point.

A boy, not yet 12 years of age, under the influence of liquor, was seen in Franklin street, last evening, and was taken in charge by some charitable people, and taken to his home in West End. He had in his possession a pint of whisky.

Press Censor During the War.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Benjamin P. Snyder, president of the National Saf. Deposit Savings and Trust company, has died here. He was 62 years old. He was press censor and custodian of the telegraph service of the war department while Lincoln was president.

French and Italians Fight.

PARIS, June 18.—In a fight between Italian and French workmen at Barcarin, near St. Louis du Rhone, two Frenchmen were killed. The district was intensely excited and the police quelled further disturbances.

Tired of Russell Sage.

NEW YORK, June 18.—A formidable movement is on foot to oust Russell Sage from the presidency of the Iowa Central Railway company.

Nothing but doubt now hinders you from securing the best product of the weavers art, and the tailors skill, at an average of at least one-third off from current prices. Nothing but doubt, we said, and that one obstacle will be removed when you glance into our show windows, or better still, when you examine the goods in our store. People in smaller cities are not so much influenced by advertising as they are in more cosmopolitan locations. We know there are hundreds of men here, wedded to certain concerns, from which it is as difficult to wean them, as it would be for others to take trade from us.

It is mainly for your trade we've made these cuts, gentlemen, and though you've never had cause to doubt the absolute accuracy of our newspaper statements, we'll furnish additional evidence. Your own eyes will not deceive you, you must credit your sense of touch, you are at liberty, you are invited to look, to examine, to compare. You need not buy unless there is a clean saving from $3 to $6.00 on each suit. Even after you've bought you have the privilege of returning and get your money back. Does that sound as if we were sure of our ground? We're bidding for greater trade. We're buying it with well deserved profits. We want continual animation, and we're willing to pay liberally for it.
